Destination: Kaieteur Falls

Kaieteur National Park is in the heart of the Guiana Shield, in the Pakaraima Mountain region. This area is composed mainly of plateaus and steep sloped escarpments, and is noted for its many of rivers and waterfalls which drop off the edges of the escarpment. This majestic wonder, the centerpiece of the Park, proudly boasts being one of the most spectacular waterfalls in the world. It is located where the Roraima formation gives way to the lowlands and drops 741 feet (225 meters) to splash to a basin below; thereafter to travel some 20 miles (32 kilometers) through a deep gorge before leaving the escarpment behind.
